REGISTER

Register to participate in-person or via webcast at: www.cec.org/Council2018. Limited financial assistance is available for travel and lodging and may be requested (via the online registration form) before 28 May 2018.

Participation at the JPAC forum is open to the public and free of charge.

Building on the successful JPAC session that took place last November in Chicago on "NAFTA'S Environmental Side Agreement: Assessing the Past, Looking Towards the Future," the JPAC forum will focus on emerging topics related to environment and economic growth, including increasing private sector engagement in CEC initiatives and highlighting examples of successful indigenous community and private sector collaborations.

If you cannot attend the forum in person, you can participate online through our webcasts and Facebook Live sessions.

The CEC's JPAC forum is being held in conjunction with the 25th Regular Session of the CEC's governing Council, which is composed of the cabinet-level environment ministers of Canada, Mexico, and the United States.

About the CEC

The Commission for Environmental Cooperation (CEC) was established by the governments of Canada, Mexico and the United States through the North American Agreement on Environmental Cooperation, the environmental side agreement to NAFTA. An intergovernmental organization, the CEC brings together citizens and experts from governments, nongovernmental organizations, academia and the business sector to seek solutions to protect North America's shared environment while supporting sustainable economic development. Find out more at: www.cec.org.

CEC initiatives are undertaken with the financial support of the Government of Canada through Environment and Climate Change Canada, the Government of the United States of Mexico through the Secretaría de Medio Ambiente y Recursos Naturales, and the Government of the United States of America through the Environmental Protection Agency.
